Emerald Ash Borer Service

Protect your trees of this deadly pest

Emerald Ash Borer larvae burrows into the bark of ash trees, disrupting the plants' ability to transport water and nutrients. This pest is responsible for the death of over 25 million trees in America—and yours could be next.

Unlike other tree borers, Emerald Ash Borers infest seemingly healthy trees, so it's important to catch and correct this problem early. Otherwise, your valuable tree investment could be lost. It's best to treat trees April through June, or August through October, when trees are more active in their nutrient uptake.

Our closed-injection process delivers a controlled dose of Emerald Ash Borer remedy directly to the tree's vascular system. This ensures targeted application while minimizing environmental impact.
